

Resin, Oils Explosion Rocks Plant

Pennsylvania Chemical Factory Is Scene of Blasts Where Paints
Are Made

None Hurt Badly

None of Employees Were
in Plant; Six Outside
Are Burned

Clairton, Pa., Sept. 25 (AP)—A terrific explosion of resin and oils today shattered two buildings at the Pennsylvania Industrial Chemical Corporation's plant and rocked this entire Monongahela river
steel-producing community.

None of the corporation's 32 employees was in the buildings, but a half-dozen were slightly burned
by flying tar and chemicals.
The blast, followed by fire that was quickly checked, occurred in the agitating department building
where oils and resins are broken down in the first process of paint manufacture.

The corrugated sheet iron and brick structure was smashed into a heap of debris and an adjoining office and laboratory building were wrecked.

Flames Are Cornered

Firemen kept the flames from reaching eight nearby storage tanks containing about 250,000
gallons of highly inflammable solvents.

A company chemist reported a "warning rumble" preceded the blast and expressed the opinion that naphthalene, pouring from burned tanks, ignited. Flames shot 200 feet into the air.

Foreman Joseph McKallip said
the company, in addition to manufacturing paint, also processes solvents for other companies, some of which he said held government defense orders. Firemen declined to estimate the damage or give an opinion on the cause of the explosion.

Police Lieut. Leo F. O'Donnell
described the blast this way:
"It was a terrible explosion. It blew out all the windows of the plant and shook the entire town.
Everything went up through the roof and tore the roof off the building. Flames shot into the air."

Brick and Steel Building

The building in which the blast occurred was a brick and steel structure about 200 feet long.

Windows in many homes surrounding the plant were shattered.
A. Mussora, who lives two miles away, said he thought his house had blown up when the blast occurred. He reported smoke belching from the plant had covered the entire community of 16,000 population, about 13 miles from Pittsburgh.

The plant was swept by a fire in 1938 which destroyed 5,000 gallons of chemicals and caused damage
estimated at $250,000.

McWilliams Is Sane

New York, Sept. 25 (AP)—Joseph E. McWilliams, accused of inciting anti-Jewish disturbances in the Yorkville German colony during an election campaign, was adjudged "sane" and "legally responsible for his acts" today and paroled in his attorney's custody for sentencing later on a disorderly conduct charge. McWilliams, unsuccessful candidate for a Republican congressional nomination,
was committed to Bellevue Hospital for observation last week.
He was discharged from the hospital today and taken back to court, where Magistrate Edgar Bronberger set October 1 for sentencing.

Woman Is Murdered

Horsham, Pa., Sept. 25 (AP)—An attractive young mother found clutched to death on the dusty sidewalk of an unoccupied farmhouse was linked today to a prominent southern family in a statement her husband made to police.
Her head and face beaten, Mrs.
Ethel M. Atkins, 35-year-old mother of three-year-old twin sons,
was discovered in the two and one-half story building last night,
clad only in stockings and one slipper and wearing a wedding ring. She was identified 14 hours later by her husband, James F. Akins, Philadelphia bricklayer.

ber 23: Receipts $20,936,881.97. Ex-

Had License Trouble

Ted Davis, 33, Middletown auto mechanic, was arrested at Shandaken by Troopers Dunn and Stickles, charged with operating an unlicensed car. Justice Fred A.
Decker imposed a jail sentence of ten days.

President to Speak At Airport Rites

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—A pouring rain upset plans today
for a coming-out party for Washington's giant new airport, and President Roosevelt's laying of a cornerstone was postponed until (3:30 p. m., E.
S. T.) Saturday.

The chief executive, who on November 19, 1938, watched workmen start dragging 1,250,- 000 cubic yards of sand and gravel from the bed of the historic Potomac river, drew the assignment of getting the cornerstone into place for the terminal building of one of his pet projects.

Herzog Will Be Speaker
at Exercises Saturday Afternoon; Plant
Cost $125,000

Plans for the dedication of the new sewage treatment plant in Saugerties, constructed by the Work Projects Administration, were formulated Tuesday night at a meeting of the village trustees,
presided over by Mayor Frank S.
Tongue. Attending the meeting and concurring in the plans in addition to Mayor Tongue were Trustees Orville Snyder, Joseph
Keenan, Franklin P. Clum, John
F. Carnwright, Henry York, John
C. Sauer and Village Clerk William F. Keenan.

Lester W. Herzog, state WPA administrator, will be the principal speaker at the ceremonies which have been scheduled for Saturday afternoon. The program will get underway at 1:30 o'clock, with a parade through the village streets
to the new $125,000 treatment plant located at the end of Dock street.

Fire Chief Edmund V. Burhans will be marshal of the parade, assisted by Edward Van Wart and Cornelius Lynch, assistant fire chiefs. It was announced by the village's chief executive.

The parade will form at the municipal building and proceed west on Main street to John street, to Lafayette street, to Partition street, to Dock street and to the

which the federal government,
through the WPA, supplied more than $60,000 for wages of the workmen employed on the project and for some of the materials required, will be master of ceremonies at the dedication exercises,
Mayor Tongue said.

New York Republican Feuding Might Cause Draft of Barton for Senate

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP)—Recent feuding among New York Republicans echoed anew today in a move to draft Rep. Bruce Barton for the nomination for United States senator, with possibility of a state convention floor fight before a final selection.

Efforts to name the New York city advertising executive, despite Barton's avowed disinterest, originated with David W. Kemp-ner, member of the New York county G. O. P. committee, and found support among friends of former National Committeeman Kenneth F. Simpson.

Kempner, Republican candidate for the assembly in 1922, said he was telegraphing each delegate to the convention that opens in White Plains, Friday, urging support for

DAKAR'S FATE OBSCURE; LEADER SAYS BATTLE STILL CONTINUES

Sodden Autumn Skies Send These Boys to Fort Dix

Above are seen motorized units of the 156th Field Artillery Headquarters Battery and Battery A passing before the high school this morning enroute to Fort Dix, N. J., where they will train for a year as part of the newly mustered Federal forces, formerly in the New York State National Guard. There was no official send off and the weather kept spectators at a minimum.

Christmas Is Set As Possible Time For Adjournment

Logan-Walter Measure
Probably Will Be Passed
Before Close; Leader
Gives His Opinion

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—
Christmas replaced the coming week-end in some adjournment forecasts today, and opponents of the controversial Logan-Walter bill conceded that the Senate would take up and probably pass the measure if Congress remained in session.

Senator Minton of Indiana, Democratic whip and a foe of the Logan-Walter legislation, said it appeared to him that, barring early adjournment, proponents probably would be able to force consideration and eventual passage of the bill, which would impose new legal curbs on the decisions of such governmental agencies as the labor relations board.

That Congress might be here
until Christmas was the opinion of Senator Barkley of Kentucky, Democratic leader, who told the Senate yesterday he was informed that the House of Representatives at the present moment would not vote to adjourn, and might not even agree to a post-election recess.

"If it does not vote to adjourn and does not vote to recess," he said, "it will be in session continuously until Christmas."

Barkley made this prediction in the course of an attempt to get Logan-Walter supporters to agree to delay Senate action until the middle of October, when a report
could be obtained from a special committee appointed by the attorney general to study the procedure of administrative agencies
which would be affected.

Senator Clark (D., Mo.) said he

Field Artillery Units Leave for New Jersey

Two Divisions Leave in Trucks and Cars; Battery A Boys Say They Might Be Moved Into Georgia
Area to Use Gun Range

Under wet, leaden skies Battery A and Headquarters Battery,
First Battalion, local units of the 156th Field Artillery, left Kingston shortly after 8 o'clock this morning en route to Fort Dix at Wrightstown, N. J., where they expected to arrive about 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The units moved out of the state armory on Manor avenue in two divisions. The first was composed of 11 trucks and staff cars and the second of 15 trucks and staff cars and two motorcycles, a total of 28 pieces of equipment.

The officers rode in the staff
cars while the privates were carried in the trucks. The boys found it cramped quarters, but all appeared cheerful as they left Kingston for a year of intensive military training.

Might Go to Georgia

Among the boys of the batteries
it was the general impression that after spending some of the year in Fort Dix that they would be moved to Georgia to a training camp equipped with an artillery range. There is no artillery range at Fort Dix.

World War veterans of Kingston who in 1917-18 spent training periods at Fort Dix, then known as Camp Dix, report that it is a sandy area. One veteran said today that he never saw so much sand gathered in one spot.

As the soldiers motored from the armory down Albany avenue
to Broadway, and thence to Wurts street and over the Rondout Creek Bridge they were greeted with blasts from the automobiles they passed and by cheers from those along the sidewalks.

At the Kingston high school the students gathered along the wall
in front of the school and waited until the soldiers had passed. The pupils had been given permission from the school authorities to remain out of school this morning
until after the soldiers had left so that they would have the opportunity of seeing the boys.

The first division was led by one of the police radio cars and a few minutes later the second division passed down Broadway
headed by one of the motorcycle
riders of the unit.

Goodbyes Are Said

At the armory this morning relatives and friends gathered to bid goodbye to the boys. There were some affecting scenes as mothers kissed their sons farewell,
but there was not the sadness that prevailed in the days of the World War when the boys left for points unknown.

The members of Battery A and Headquarters Battery on their arrival at Fort Dix will be forced

First Draft Ranks May Hold Sizeable Volunteer Corps

Rush of Men Is Expected
as in 1917; and Offers
Pour Into Service
Offices at Capital

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—
Voluntary army enlistment offers pouring into selective service headquarters today indicated that a sizeable part of the first compulsory service quota of 400,000 men might be filled without a draft.

Recalling that 435,000 men volunteered from April through August in 1917, selective service
officials anticipated in the coming weeks of rush of men anxious to complete their year's training
and be done with it.

Selective service officials pointed to the comparatively numerous inquiries already received at state offices, army recruiting centers,
newspaper offices, and head-

Willkie Hits 1937 Price Report; Democrats Busy

Stump Orators Plan Republican Nominee's
to Launch National Campaign to Cover
'Last Precinct'

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—Pro-
Roosevelt independents and Democrats stepped up the tempo of the third-term election drive today as Wendell L. Willkie carried his Republican presidential campaign
eastward.

The newly organized national committee of independent voters
for Roosevelt and Wallace announced a speaking campaign to be waged "down to the last precinct."

Melvin D. Hildreth, former North Dakotan who will have charge of the independents' Washington headquarters, said tentative plans call for a speaking campaign to start early next month
which will take Mayor Fiorello H.
LaGuardia of New York, committee chairman, and Senator George W. Norris (Ind., Neb.) honorary chairman, into the principle campaign battlegrounds.

Will Follow Willkie

He said other stump orators would be sent to campaign in Willie's footsteps, a research group created to "correct any misstate-ments by Willkie immediately,"

6,000 Colonial Troops Still Hold Out in Vital City

President Orders
35,700 More Men
Into Active Duty

National Guardsmen Will
Be Sent to Various Posts
Throughout Nation,
Call Specifies

Washington, Sept. 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt ordered into active military service today another 35,700 officers and men of the National Guard.

The Guardsmen called out for a year's military training will report on October 15.

The President's action today
followed a recent order calling out 60,500 Guardsmen for federal military service.

The units covered in this latest order were the same ones designated by the war department September 16 to report for duty October 15. The presidential action was necessary to put the Guardsmen legally under orders for service.

The civilian-soldiers affected by the new order will come from New York, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin,
Mississippi, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

The units involved are:
The 27th Division less its tank company, from New York, which will train at Fort McClellan, Alabama.

The 37th Division, from Ohio, less its tank company, and companies F and I of the 12th Medical Regiment, which will go to Camp Shelby, Mississippi.

The 32nd Division, less its tank company, from Michigan and Wisconsin, to train at Beauregard, Louisiana.

The 102nd observation squadron
from New York, which also will go to Fort McClellan.

The 153rd observation squadron
from Mississippi, which will report
at Meridian, Mississippi.

More Than Half
In Service

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 25 (AP)—
Mobilization of the 27th Division,
New York National Guard, ordered today by President Roosevelt, will put more than half the state's estimated 26,000 Guardsmen in active federal service after October 15.

Lieut. Col. C. Pemberton Lenart, director of the state Guard's personnel bureau, has estimated

French Warplanes Again
Strike at Gibraltar;
Axis Plot Blamed for Attack

Berlin Is Bombed

British Spend Almost 3
Hours Over Berlin;
London Raided

(By The Associated Press)

London Headquarters of Gen.
Charles De Gaulle's "free French" forces said late today that "operations at Dakar are continuing." Earlier unconfirmed reports from Vichy said France's west African capital had surrendered.

The London report would indicate that the estimated 6,000 French colonial troops defending the strategic port were still holding out, presumably under heavy fire from British warships outside the harbor.

While the fate of Dakar remained obscure, 40 French warplanes from Morocco again bombed Britain's historic Gibraltar.

Following of yesterday's two-hour attack, the raiders dumped bombs on the arsenal and docks.
One plane was seen to fall in the sea.

Officially the Vichy government said nothing had been heard from Dakar since 1:30 p. m. yesterday,
when the African port underwent a fierce air raid by RAF naval planes.

The city's radio station was shelled out of action and messages from French warships in the harbor provided the only communication with the outside world.

Casualties in yesterday morn-ing's bombardment alone were listed at 185 killed, 363 wounded.

Six Attempts Repulsed

Under orders of the Vichy government of Premier Marshal Philippe Petain, who surrendered to German conquest, the little African colony, strategic "key to the South Atlantic," reportedly drove back six attempts to land troops
from the siege ships.

De Gaulle and the British have explained that the attack on Dakar was necessitated by a German-Italian plot to seize Africa—
a program which was widely heralded in Rome and Berlin last week during secret axis discussions between Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop and Fascist Foreign Minister Count
Galeazzo Ciano.

With the British apparently getting in the first blow, Berlin reported that Count Ciano would entrain for the German capital tomorrow "for further conferences"
on the axis program—presumably to discuss the British action at Dakar with Adolf Hitler.

While Nazi bombs wrecked
more homes and buildings in the London area, RAF warplanes spilled salvos of explosives on "military objectives" in Berlin for two and a half hours.

The British air ministry reported that the RAF—striking in the second straight night attack
on the German capital—bombed
the great Siemens and Halske factories, which make most of the electrical equipment used by Hitler's armies, and set huge fires.

Casualties were reported in scattered towns of England and Wales but the German raiders concentrated on battered London
for the 18th consecutive night.

Bomb Hits A.P.

At the height of the pre-dawn pounding of central London communications were interrupted temporarily between the New York and London offices of the Associated Press.

It was believed a bomb struck
one corner of the London office of the Associated Press. Details were hidden behind the censorship. None of the staff members was injured.

British bombers striking back at Berlin for the third straight night kept Berliners underground two hours and 48 minutes. Nazi spokesmen said few casualties resulted.

In direct reprisal for the British raid on Dakar, a Vichy communique said, a "large number of French warplanes dumped 45 tons of bombs yesterday on the arsenal
and south mole of Britain's great rock fortress of Gibraltar.

Reports from nearby Algiers,
Spain, said one bomb exploded
near the governor's residence,

Port Ewen Man Fined $50, Loses Driving License

F. R. Johnson Admits He Drove While Drunk;
Scully Gets Term
in County Jail

Francis Rolland Johnson, 21, of Port Ewen, pleaded guilty to operating an automobile while intoxicated when arraigned this morning before Judge Matthew V. Cahill, and was fined $50 and his operator's license was revoked.

The youth was arrested about 2 o'clock this morning on East Chester street by Officers Welch and Krum in one of the police radio cars. The officers also arrested Lloyd Lund, 23, of RFD 1, Kingston, riding with Johnson, and charged him with public intoxication.

Lund on his plea of guilty to public intoxication was fined $3.

The trial of Nicholas M. Saner, Jr., 47, of 60 Cedar street, on a drunken driving charge was adjourned until later. Saner was arrested on September 16, and the hearing had been adjourned until this morning.

Saner was arrested on Wurts street and is charged with driving his car into the traffic blinker at Wurts and McEntee streets, damaging it to the extent of $50.

Scully Gets Term

John Scully of 451 Washington avenue was arrested in the county jail shortly after 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon and later was arraigned before Judge Cahill in police court on a charge of assault in the third degree. He was sentenced to 45 days in jail.

Scully was arrested on September 1 on a charge of second degree assault but the grand jury, reporting Monday afternoon referred the case back to police court recommending that Scully be tried on a third degree charge.

The arrest of Scully followed a visit by Scully to the room of Clifford Cole at 177 Wall street when Cole was badly cut by a broken whiskey bottle. It required 100 stitches at the Kingston Hospital to close Cole's wounds.

John Small of Cleveland, Ohio, and James Clark, a negro of 11 Greenkill avenue, were each fined $3 on their pleas of guilty to public intoxication.

Stuart L. Sonne of 145 Downs street, charged with double parking, forfeited $2 bail.

John Amendola of Glasco was fined $2 for failing to comply with the directions on a full stop sign.

Paul Katonah of Rosendale, charged with passing a red light, gave bail for a hearing later.

Bernard Segal of Cincinnati, Ohio, charged with passing a red traffic light, forfeited $5 bail.

Henry Eggleston of RFD 1, Kingston, passing a stop sign, forfeited $5 bail, while Allan H. Coutant of 101 Roosevelt avenue was fined $2 for a similar offense.

Sanford Reports On City Ragweed

Health Officer Says Scouts
Unable to Aid Drive

Dr. L. E. Sanford, health officer, informed the Board of Health at its regular monthly meeting Tuesday evening, that the campaign to eradicate ragweed in the city had been postponed until July of next year. When he had taken the matter up, he said, it was found that many of the Boy Scouts were away on vacation during the summer months this year, and could not aid in the usual campaign.

The proposal to eliminate ragweed for the benefit of hayfever sufferers in Kingston, had been discussed at the August meeting of the health board and Dr. Sanford had been directed to take the matter up with the Boy Scouts and the Ulster County Farm Bureau.

In the opinion of both the health officers and some of the members of the health board the elimination of ragweed in the city would not alleviate conditions as the pollen is wind-borne and is carried for a distance of 20 miles or more. It was said that in order to have an effective campaign it would be necessary to have ragweed eliminated for a distance of at least 20 miles from the city limits.

Dr. Sanford in reply to questions said that 85 per cent of hay fever is due to the pollen of ragweed.

The reports of the officers of the board showed that during August there were 81 births and 43 deaths reported as compared with 63 births and 59 deaths in August, 1939.

During August there were one case of chickenpox, two of measles, one of pneumonia, two typhoid fever, one whooping cough, one bacillary dysentery in the city. The typhoid fever cases were non-residents, it was stated.

There were two deaths from pneumonia last month in the city. In the absence of Mayor C. J. Heiselman, who was attending another meeting, Attorney Louis G. Bruhn presided at the health board meeting.

Tuckers Corners Driver Held on Serious Charge

Alfred Ose of Tuckers Corners was arrested last night by Sergeant Hulse and Trooper Benson on a bench warrant issued by District Attorney Haver, following indictment by the grand jury on a drunken driving charge as a second offender.

Ose was arrested last Thursday night following a collision and at that time his hearing on a drunken driving charge was set down for September 25. Later, according to Sergeant Hulse, an investigation disclosed that he had been convicted in Lindenhurst in 1938 on a similar charge and the matter was referred to the district attorney's office.

HIGHLAND

Highland, September 25—Mrs. George Noeltner is chairman of the October Ladies' Aid committee which meets October 2 at the home of Mrs. A. W. Williams. Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.) touched off campaign debate in the Senate late yesterday when he asserted that Willkie "charged power patrons of Tennessee a 5,000 per cent profit" before he became the Republican nominee.

Senator Wiley (R., Wis.), in reply, said that McKellar's TVA stand was "inconsistent" and that he once stood "against the public interest" by favoring lease of the government's Muscle Shoals power plant to the Alabama Power Company. Later, McKellar denied this.

Willkie's Portland speech also brought a retort from Secretary Ickes who wired the Republican nominee. "You are covering up your record as a foe of public power."

and "hundreds" of sub-committees formed throughout the country. Hildreth is one of the 39 executive committee members who organized the independent campaign group here yesterday in Norris' office.

The members then called on President Roosevelt who told them he was "very happy to accept the support of every liberal and progressive in the United States because we are living in an era, an age where the principles of democracy itself are at stake."

Thomas G. Corcoran, young New Deal legal and political aide, who resigned his eight-year-old RFC job to accept one of the 14 vice chairmanships of the independent committee, will take over management details in the Washington office, Hildreth said.

Glass Will Vote
The veteran Senator Carter Glass (D., Va.) reiterated in a statement that he would vote for President Roosevelt despite his opposition to "third terms."

Glass made his statement in response, he said, to an inquiry whether his anti-third term letter Monday to Senator Burke (D., Neb.) meant that he was "bolting the Roosevelt nomination."

"Of course I am not bolting," he said. "I am voting for President Roosevelt. I announced promptly at the end of the Chicago convention that although opposed to third term, I nevertheless felt bound to support the nominees of the convention, and that I intended to do so."

Adding to the fighting front of political oratory, Ralph Becker, Port Chester, president of the Young Men's Republican Clubs of the state, announced today that speakers at the dinner which the clubs are giving Friday evening at Westchester Country Club will be Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota, keynote at the GOP national convention, and National Republican Chairman Joseph Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts.

Willkie Hits '37 Price Statement

could have caused such a rapid decline in the price of copper, I say to you, is very deleterious to our domestic economy.

"For instance, if Grover Cleveland had made some such remark, it would not have affected the price of copper, because he did not have enough power to do anything about it. But in the last seven years we have concentrated much power in Washington."

"You have in this section great areas of public lands," Willkie said. "Those public lands in many cases belong to the federal government, and are administered from Washington. We have had a secretary of the interior who grew up in Chicago, or who spent all of his mature life in Chicago."

Necessity Not Appreciated
"With all that power concentrated in Washington and with no understanding of the atmosphere of the people of this far western country," he has not appreciated the necessity of the people here using those public lands as much as is economically possible for private uses, within proper regulation."

On Willkie's train schedule today were platform talks at Miles City, Mont., and Dickinson, Bismarck, Jamestown, Valley City, and Fargo, N. D. Tomorrow he will campaign through South Dakota, Minnesota and Iowa, completing the day with an evening farm address at Omaha, Neb.

Willkie whose speeches on his western tour have been largely directed to the working man, got a taste of working men talking to him yesterday.

As the Willkie special train left Spokane 10 north Idaho working men, elected by fellow employees to contact the nominee, boarded the Willkie car along with state party leaders.

De Gaulle's Activity Looks Like Brilliant Move to Counter Recent Axis Plan

Scheme Smacks of Anglo-Genius Many Call Typical of Present Prime Minister

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

There is much to be explained about the British-supported effort of General Charles De Gaulle, leader of Frenchmen still fighting the axis powers, to seize the strategic port of Dakar, capital of French West Africa, but it looks like a brilliant move to counter the new Berlin-Rome schemes to break England's hold on the Mediterranean.

Indeed, putting aside the ethics of the English attitude (with which we have no concern but which is hotly damned by the Axis-ridden French government at Vichy) the scheme smacks of that quality of genius that many are accustomed to associate with British Premier Churchill—not only a statesman but a great naval and military strategist. The move is calculated, as I see it, to achieve several master strokes.

It would, if carried to success, prevent this most important naval and air base on the west coast of Africa from falling into the hands of the enemy.

It would enable Britain to maintain control of its South Atlantic communications.

It would help counter the threatened axis attack on Gibraltar from bases on Spanish soil—a matter of vital moment.

It might be of great assistance in operating against the Italians in Africa, this depending on the development of the De Gaulle-British project.

cannot be overemphasized since it controls the narrow western entrance to the Mediterranean Sea. Should the axis powers be able to knock Gibraltar out, both as a fortress and a naval base, it presumably would cut England off from entrance to or exit from this sea at the western end.

Furthermore, if the axis also held Dakar, any British blockade of the entrance in the Atlantic would be seriously endangered and likely would permit Italian naval and commercial ships to reach the Atlantic once more. But with Dakar under English control, the British navy still could keep the Mediterranean bottled up by blockading the Atlantic side of the Strait of Gibraltar, even if the narrow passage itself was dominated by axis guns on Spanish soil overlooking Gib and Ceuta in Spanish Morocco.

Whether British control of Dakar also would tend to restrain Spanish Generalissimo Franco from lending aid to the axis is problematical, but that is a possibility.

The status of the assault on Dakar remained obscure this morning but there were unconfirmed reports circulating in Vichy that the city had surrendered to the "Free French" forces. In any event, in view of the vital necessity that Britain control this key position, it is hard to believe that the operation will be stopped until the Anglo-Free French forces have achieved success. There can be small doubt that England can bring sufficient naval pressure to bear to accomplish this if she sees fit.

British Watchful Of Foreign Goods, Use Card System

Products of Enemy Noted on 'Black List' Records Carried in Purses of Argentine Shoppers

By HAROLD K. MILKS

Buenos Aires (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Brightly colored cards peeping from the purses of British women—and many North Americans and Argentines as well—are not for bridge.

They're a part of the more serious game of war as played on this side of the Atlantic.

The cards, postcard size, and in packets of 11 covered by a transparent envelope, are streamlined versions of the British official "blacklist" designed to discourage purchases of products originating in the countries of Great Britain's enemies, Germany and Italy.

During the early months of the war the blacklist question became a confused one due to misunderstanding of brands, types, and origins of many products. Then some astute official thought of appealing to pro-British women.

Long, cumbersome lists were discarded. In their places came the cards, neatly printed on both sides, packed in the transparent envelope for convenient use.

Each card lists brand names of popular products, such as cosmetics, foods, automobiles, bicycles, razor blades, drugs, classifying each list by the country of origin. The divisions include "Britannico" that one comes first on each card—"Aleman" (German), "Norteamericana," "Japones," and "Argentina."

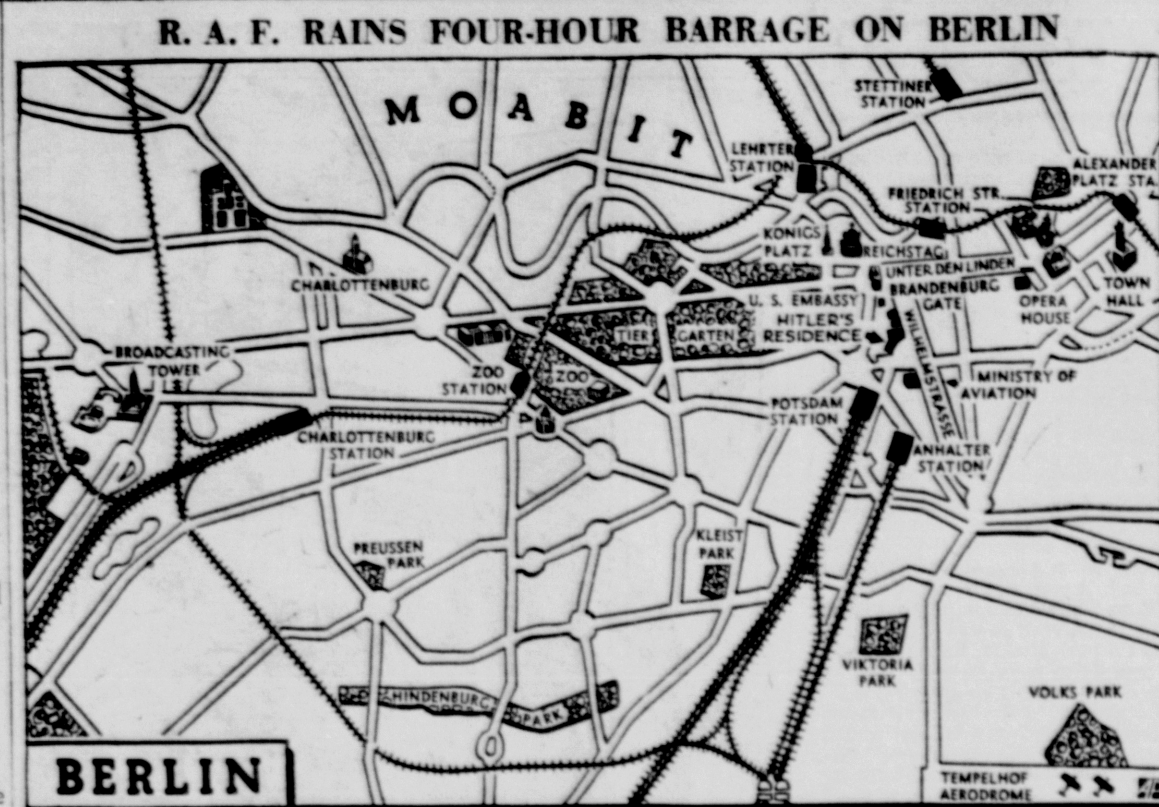

Sponsors of the project say all British women in Argentina are using the cards as marketing guides to avoid purchasing enemy products. Many Argentine, North American, and other pro-British residents of Argentina have asked for sets of the cards.

The cards avoid mention of "blacklist." It's idea, explained the sponsors, is to show where the various brands originated, and let the buyer take her choice.

Important Ingredients for Motorist
The modern motorist can set forth in any direction on this continent and be sure of finding everything good, without wasting time or money looking for these things if he is equipped with the important ingredients.

There is a new guide on the market which consists of road maps for every state in the Union; for every province in Canada, Mexico and for 48 cities that is less bulky than a monthly magazine. This guide also contains a section food and lodging, a list of principal places of interest along each route and a complete index of cities and counties, with population.

Another guide for motorists contains a list of dining places, hotels, auto courts and guest houses. This directory contains descriptions and exact directions for reaching them, with honest and impartial outlines of what each place has to offer. It even tells the type of food and lodging one may expect.

Giving the German capital its longest air-raid alarm of the war, Royal Air Force bombers dropped missiles on Berlin for four hours, and claimed damage to railway stations, freight storehouses and gas works. This map locates some of the important points in the heart of Berlin, including the reich-chancellery, formally considered Hitler's residence.

British, French Battle in West Africa

The West African port of Dakar, (above) capital of French Senegal, was the scene of a bitter clash between "free French" forces and British allies on the one hand and defending Vichy government forces on the other. The Vichy government announced the "attacks" had been repulsed; meantime, in apparent reprisal, French planes bombed the British stronghold of Gibraltar.

Chapter 35

Visitors

"CAN we compromise?" Pedro was saying to Raskthorne. "The ranch, once it is rid of Cabrillos, can be made to pay well. It will give you... your fiancée's family twice the income they have had. They should be able to live well on that."

"As it has increased in value, I can't offer to buy it outright, but I still have the fifty thousand waiting. I want to buy the controlling interest."

Constance stood up. She could stand no more. She wanted the waiter away, handed him a bill and started out.

She stopped at the next booth. Face white, eyes like dark sapphires as she faced the two men.

"I've heard all you've said. I hope I never see either one of you again."

She fled, between tables, aware of the startled diners, of voices calling to her from different parts of the cafe, and above these, two voices: one saying, "Chita!" The other, "Michael!"

She had difficulty pulling away from the curb. The empty trailer was awkward, and by the time she had made the street another car was coming out and those same voices were trying to stop her with their "Chita" and "Michael!"

She laughed hysterically as she struck the curb. The night was back, eons ago, Mrs. MacKelvey had said, "If you ever want to know anything, come in here and let the other fellow do the talking."

She had. She knew too much now.

The other car was close behind her, horn raucous. She stepped on the accelerator. The road curved sharply. She knew too late, she had forgotten the swing of the trailer. She felt the wheels of the car strike the rough sea grass, and she laughed. What did it matter? They'd all win this way.

The earth opened beneath her and her head struck something.

Queer, lying here suspended between heaven and earth with an awful stillness about her, even the waves were silent whistles.

... low tide... nothing but rocks to catch her when she dropped.

Now a white light was shining on her. She wondered vaguely if this were death, and if death would loosen that tight band about her head.

"God, you can't do that. You'll be killed with her." A voice so hoarse it couldn't be identified.

"If she is, I want to be, faintly the voice came. 'I've waited—'

Constance slipped from the white light into an abyss of darkness. There was no shock, no crumbling of the car on the rocks, no wash of waves as the tide came in. Someone was with her. She wasn't going into that next adventure alone. Perhaps it was Michael, old Michael Mahoney, leaving his choice seat in the hereafter to give his throwback a hand.

And then there were hands, hands lifting her, hands bathing her, hands thrusting a little tube into her mouth; and brutal hands hurting her, then soothing the hurt.

Next came voices. "Oh, shut up," she said irritably.

Silence was abrupt.

"She'll live," came in a hysterical giggle from Donna.

"Michael," someone kissed her left hand.

"Chita," someone kissed her right hand.

"And me with a... perfectly good pair of lips," Constance whispered. "Where's Peter Taylor?"

"Hrrrump!" Peter Taylor announced himself, and three days' growth of whiskers bruised her skin as the old man kissed her.

Chilling Blast

"NOW," whispered Donna, "I can run down the hall and tell mother to get over her heart attack; no one will have time to baby her."

Constance slept to awaken and find her eyelids no longer heavy. She could open her eyes. She was in a hospital. The walls were buff. A nurse sat under a night lamp, reading.

Memory returned to Constance like a chilling blast.

Someone had risked his life to haul her back from that fall to death. There'd been something said about not waiting for help. The trailer had caught on a boulder, but the coupe would hang only until the coupling gave way.

Which one of the two had it been? "I've waited—"

John Raskthorne, John who had played his quiet game to defeat her because he loved her. What queer kind of love was that?

She turned her face to the pillow. The nurse heard her.

"Awake? Some hot milk?" "No," moaned Constance, "don't bring me anything that comes from a cow. Nurse, she studied the kindly face, 'why am I here? Have I been ill, or injured?'"

"Mostly shock," the nurse answered. "You struck your head on the steering wheel. Nothing serious; you'll be out in a day or so."

Constance remained quiet until she returned with poached eggs and hot tea. "And I won't have to have company?" she pleaded.

The nurse hesitated. "Several persons are waiting; but no, not unless you want to see them."

"Later I'll see Meg Donahue and Lamson and maybe Peter Taylor, senior; none of my family... nor anyone else."

She had plenty of time to think. She lay looking out of the hospital window at the day, watching the lights and shadows, and sometimes thinking bitterly: "What a throwback! Poor Michael Mahoney, I'll bet his seat in the hereafter is uncomfortable at having an offspring like me."

And then everything came into focus.

She had failed. There was no use dodging the fact. And she had failed because she was a woman, and women could be ruthless only when they were fighting for their children... or their men.

Michael Mahoney would have whipped the family into line, or cut them off shrewdly. He'd have foreseen their interference. She had excused them.

"Miss Cabrillo," the nurse said anxiously, "I wish you would see your brother. He's... most eager to talk to you about something. It's going to be a shock to you to see him, but you're strong."

"All right," sighed Constance. She'd have to face him some time. She faced him and nearly fell out of bed.

"Donald Cabrillo," she cried, "were you in a wreck?"

Don, who had sidled through the door, one eye closed, the other looking like a winter sunset, grinned sheepishly with the side of his mouth he was able to use.

"Sort of," he confessed. "Had some sense beat into me. Friend of yours thought it was time."

Constance thought of John and sighed again. Why hadn't he done something like this years ago.

Whirling Around

"SIS," Don sat down beside her, "he made me see what a fool I'd been. We didn't understand. You know, you always just walked in and walked off with things without us what you were trying to do. Oh, I guess you tried but... well, that's all over."

"Now I'm stepping in to take your place. Running a ranch is no business for a woman."

Constance grasped the edge of the bed. It was whirling around.

"And I have to know what kind of a deal you made with John Raskthorne. Pedro wants to buy in, and John says he won't sell to him until you and he are married."

Constance sat up straighter. "John has nothing to say about who buys in," she stated emphatically. "He can control nothing about the ranch... except me."

She frowned in concentration. No, there had been nothing in their contract relating to anyone buying in; but what effect, if any, would that have with their agreement?

It would mean that unless Don and Pedro could pay off the yearly interest and pay the principal in twenty years, John could demand payment of his note... from her alone.

She would have to give her consent to sell... however, if Don didn't want to sell, and Don was always able to sway his mother and sister, there would be three votes against her own... and El Cabrillo wouldn't be sold.

John had been shrewd, but he had counted on that vacillating human element. He had counted on the three Cabrillo backing him.

And somehow... maybe she'd talk someone into building scrapers she could sell... she'd make that fifty thousand before the twenty years were up. She'd keep her end of the bargain.

"All right, Don, I'm going to tell you the whole story."

At length it was finished, and she reached for a glass of water and looked at her brother. He was shaking his head in wonder.

"Gosh, Con," he said boyishly, "and I thought you were shrewd. It's about time I stepped in to look after you."

"Are you going to marry John?"

"No, Don. I've never told John I would marry him. I've told him time and again that I wouldn't. Even though he saved my life... I can't."

"Saved your life... John?" asked Don. "You're crazy. John tried to make Pedro wait for help, but good old Pete said they'd waited long enough. He saved you and then, Don laughed ruefully, 'then he came and took it out on me. Boy, and was that a fight! He told me afterwards, when we talked about a partnership, that anyone who could out up the battle I did, ought to make a good ranchman.'"

Constance went back against the pillows. At least El Cabrillo was safe. Donna and Pedro and Don.

"I wish you'd see Donna for a minute," Don begged. "She and mother are going south for a little while before the wedding."

Constance nodded. "I might as well; I can stand almost anything after this."

Alimony is part of the high cost of leaving.

Simpson (relating his experience in India)—I was taking my usual morning dip when I spotted three gladiators making for me, so I had to swim for my life!

Johnson—You mean navigators—something like a crocodile?

Simpson—Well, what are gladiators?

Johnson—Gladiators? Why, they're sort of flowers grown from bulbs.

A man was having trouble with his telephone. Hearing nothing but a confused jumble of sounds, he finally became so exasperated that he shouted into the transmitter: Man—Is there a blithering fool at the end of this line?

Cool, Feminine Voice—Not at this end.

Once Each Day

The Boy Scouts have a rule that they must do one kind deed each day. Just once each day they must do some little thing to make someone else a bit happier. Certainly nothing a boy could do would be of more benefit to him, and give him more happiness, than to stick to that resolution all his life.

Wouldn't it be a fine idea if every grown person would pledge himself to say one kind thing about someone every day?

Unfortunately, the things we say which other people find most interesting, are the unkind things. Any man or woman will listen with ears pricked forward like a fox terrier if we are saying some thing unkind, passing along some bit of scandal or gossip.

If, on the other hand, we deliberately planned to say one nice thing about someone every day, we would at once begin to look for something in the other fellow about which to say something nice. The result would be that we would discover pleasant things about our friends which we never noticed before.

It is proverbial that we see what we look for in this world. Such a resolution would make us see many fine traits in our friends that we never looked for and therefore never noticed.

Education

Every man profits by two kinds of education—that which is given to him, and that which he gives himself....Of the two, the latter is the most valuable....For it is man's destiny that he must work things out and conquer for himself.

Hotel Manager (to visitor)—I trust we shall be able to make you feel quite at home.

Visitor—Don't trouble yourself. I don't want to feel at home. That's why I came here.

"If at first you don't succeed and etc...."

A life insurance agent called upon a big business man at the close of a busy day. When the agent had been admitted, the business man said:

Business Man—You ought to feel highly honored, young fellow. Do you know that today I have refused to see seven insurance men?

Agent—I know, I'm them.

It is better to avoid a quarrel if possible. Broken friendships may be patched up but the patch is likely to show.

They were discussing a silver butter dish which they hoped to send to newly-married friends.

Husband (reading the paper)—Oh, just the usual dope, I suppose. Wife (after a few moments)—How about this: "For butter-or worse?"

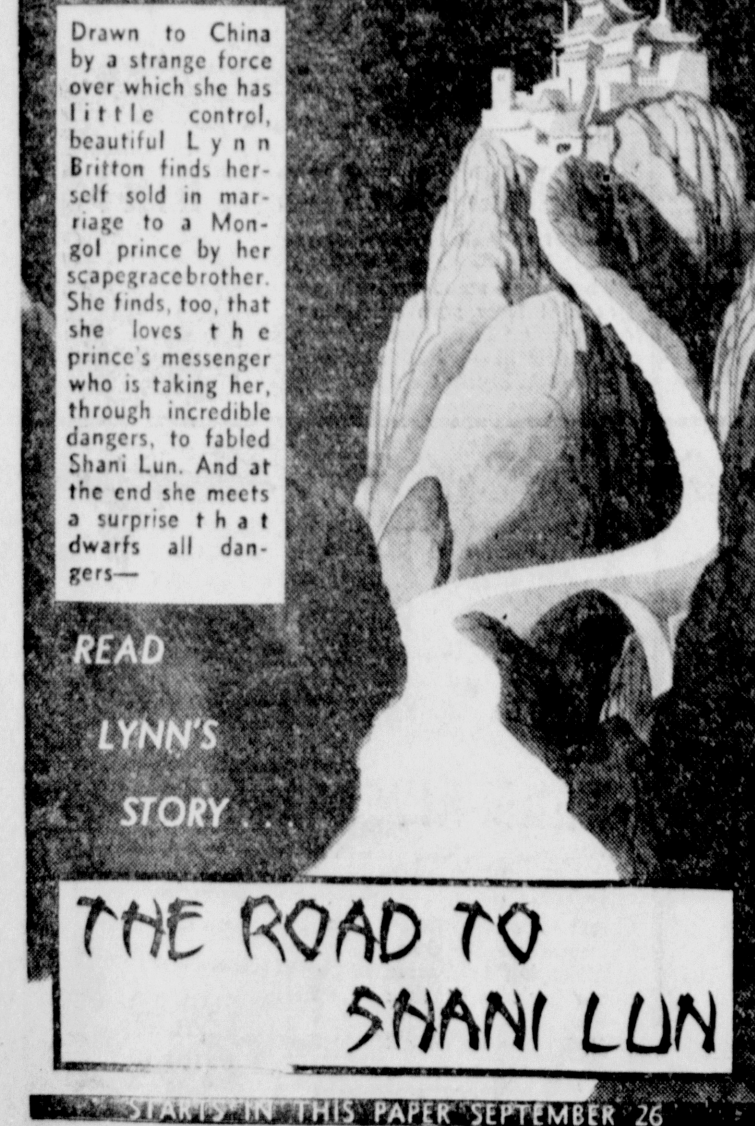

Most of us, being well-intentioned, usually find on checking back that our neglects are worse than our offenses—but neglects are often plenty bad.

Salesgirls in Bombay

Girls are replacing men in business houses in Bombay, India, and it is not due to war conditions. Business men have discovered that sales girls are more efficient and are more popular. The popularity of the sales girls is such that they have increased by nearly 50 per cent in a year.

There are about 25,000 post offices in Great Britain and northern Ireland.

to Willkie, whose nomination was seconded by Barton at Philadelphia.

The failure of Republicans to agree in the three-months interim on a senatorial candidate—an important figure in Willkie's campaign for New York's 47 electoral votes—was attributed by one G. O. P. leader to a struggle between the two factions: over control of patronage involved in the senatorship.

He predicted agreement before the convention opens but a spokesman for the Simpson wing said "I wouldn't be too sure of it."

While Simpson disclaimed any "promotion" of a draft movement, he declared himself "100 per cent for Barton" and asserted he has been "swamped with letters urging his nomination."

He termed selection of Barton "the one thing that would give the campaign to elect Willkie encouragement and a real lift," and added:

"If the state Republican leaders want to nominate some colorless candidate, that is their responsibility."

Jaekle has told the party's state executive committee that he is sponsoring no candidate and is "open to suggestions."

Reports that Republican State Senator Walter J. Mahoney was being considered found the Buffalo lawyer non-committal.

Republican legislative leaders, who have been contacting party lawmakers for views to be included in the G. O. P. platform meet today to formulate recommendations. Slated to confer were Joe R. Hanley, Senate majority leader; Oswald D. Heck and Irving M. Ives, Assembly speaker and majority leader respectively.

Hanley said expressions for continuance of the G. O. P. budget "economy" program and creation of a system for unemployment insurance fund contributions by employers, based on their employment stability, probably would be among subjects urged upon the platform makers. Governor Lehman twice has vetoed such "merit rating" bills passed by the Republican legislature.

Local Movement To Form Guard Begins in City

Although the bill has not been passed by Congress authorizing governors of states to form State or Home Guard units, a movement has already been started in Kingston toward the formation of two companies of infantry to take over state guard duty in the event such units are authorized.

Until such passage by Congress authorizing the governor of the state to call for State Guards, no definite action can be taken, but preparations are under way now to form a Guard unit here for duty within the state. In anticipation of such orders later by the governor and adjutant general a tentative organization has been planned.

Kingston will have two companies, Company "A" and Company "B." The 36th Infantry, New York Guard, Company "A" will be under command of John J. Schwenk and Company "B" will be under command of Allan J. Hanstein under the tentative set-up.

While no official enlistments can be made until the Guard is authorized, plans have been made to have an officer from each of the proposed companies at the local army for a week beginning Monday, September 30, between the hours of 7 and 9 p. m. to interview and list prospective members. This will afford an opportunity for young men who may later be called out under conscription to receive some valuable military training which may be of value to them in way of promotions should they be called later.

This advance interview will expedite the recruiting of the local State Guard units when and if the order comes through.

There have been a great many inquiries from men in this vicinity who are desirous of joining the Guard units when formed. Each company will be limited to 54 men and the age limit will be from 18 to 50 and enlistments may be for a period of three years or for service until the National Guard units of the 156th P. A. return from present training.

Members enlisting in the State Guard will be required to undergo military training and enlistment in the State Guard will not prevent men from 21 to 35 being called for conscription under the existing conscription law recently passed.

During the World War a local Home Guard unit was formed in Kingston and did home guard duty during the war period while the National Guard units were absent.

Perfect 'Divining Rod' For Discovering Oil

Herbert Hoover Jr., following in his father's professional footsteps, appeared in New York recently to describe an important development of his own in prospecting for oil.

The 37-year-old Hoover said that he and his associates had perfected a modern "divining rod" to discover pools of oil as deep as 10,000 feet below the earth's surface. By adapting the mass spectrophotograph, a scientific instrument heretofore used only in research laboratories, Hoover said he had made it commercially practicable to analyze gases in sub-surface soils. Such gases as butane and octane reveal hidden oil deposits.

So sensitive is the Hoover device that gases seeping up from buried oil can be detected in quantities as tiny as one-tenth of one cubic millimeter, smaller in volume than the head of a pin. A single pint of earth from the ground above an oil pool will yield that much gas. Furthermore, one part of oil-produced gases can be identified in 20,000 parts of methane, ordinary marsh gas given off by rotting vegetation.

When all the gases have been removed from the sample of earth to be tested, Hoover explained, they are shot through a U-shaped tube by electric and magnetic impulses. Gases of heavier atomic weights become automatically separated from lighter gases by centrifugal force. Those indicating the presence of oil can thus be identified.

One drawback to the Hoover process is the bulkiness of the equipment. The device with which he has worked weighs several tons and fills most of a 600-foot-square room. However, he has hopes of reducing it eventually to portable size.

Red, Redder, Reddest

Trenton, Mo. (AP)—There was triple embarrassment for the automobile driver whose right front wheel came off while driving down a Trenton street. The wheel rolled right up the driveway of a garage and was caught by a mechanic. The red faced driver was an employee of a rival garage that sold cars of a rival make. And with him in the front seat he had a prospective purchaser who was out for a demonstration.

Uncle Ab says it is better to get bent over hard work than to get crooked trying to get out of it.

Legion Ask U. S. To Curb Foreign Groups in Nation

Would Have Curb Part of Defense Program Strong Enough to Maintain Peace

Boston, Sept. 25 (AP)—The American Legion today named Milwaukee as its 1941 convention city after adopting a program which in effect declared "war" on all subversive activities and called for rigid control of all aliens.

Curb Is Urged

Boston, Sept. 25 (AP)—Calls for the curbing of Nazi, Fascist and Communist activities as part of a national defense program strong enough to "keep the United States at peace" were sounded today before the American Legion's 22nd convention.

The Legion adopted an Americanism committee report which demanded registration of all Bund and Communist party members, together with congressional action to provide "rigid supervision" of all aliens. Members of "subversive groups" would be barred from holding public office.

Also adopted were recommendations calling for a ban on foreign language radio programs, the outlawing of all organizations bearing the names of foreign countries and the barring of mail to "un-American organizations."

Bridges Resolution Adopted

The legionnaires applauded before adopting a resolution demanding the deportation of Harry Bridges, west coast labor leader. They voted also for the establishment of junior ROTC units in all state training and industrial schools.

While the head of the Legion's national defense committee prepared to bring forward a many-sided preparedness outline, the convention heard William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, suggest that the AFL and the veterans work together to "outlaw" subversive activities.

Green declared also that the federation, which once opposed compulsory military service, now would support it. He asserted that labor would do whatever it could to "help the government make the draft a success and to protect the rights of millions of men who are drafted in the next few years."

Boston Normal Again

Meanwhile, Boston began to return to normalcy after a day of the biggest Legion parades in history. More than 100,000 marchers streamed past a throng estimated at 3,000,000 in a colorful procession that began at 9 a. m. and did not end until after 9 p. m. Thousands of the veterans turned toward their homes today, as the 1,500 convention delegates got down to work.

Prior to tackling scores of defense and other resolutions, the convention already had before it the action of the Legion's national executive committee, calling upon the Federal Communications Commission to deny the use of radio facilities to "groups known to be subversive to a foreign country."

Thomas E. Haggerty, 19, of Rosedale, N. Y., winner of the Legion's national oratorical contest, appeared before the Legion auxiliary to assert that the American Youth Congress were "fronts for illegal plots conceived in Moscow."

Alfred P. Sloan, chairman of General Motors, in an address last night said that complete modernization of American industrial plant would employ all available labor for years, but that before this can be brought about a change is necessary in the political philosophy of recent years "based upon the doctrine that accomplishment is a crime." At a press conference he stated, in discussing the general outlook, that sooner or later there will be a curtailment in defense spending, leaving a vacuum which will have to be met by the nation's Chief Executive. He contended that this problem could best be solved by a business man rather than by a politician.

At the present time Wendell L. Willkie has the edge on President Roosevelt in Ohio, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas, a long-distance telephone survey made yesterday by the Wall Street Journal indicates.

In making the survey a group of editors and writers in a position to have intimate knowledge of political sentiment in the middle west was contacted. In Illinois, Michigan and North Dakota the Willkie campaign was judged not to have made such good progress, although these states were not conceded to President Roosevelt.

In Britain's own struggle at home, RAF bombers struck again and again at Nazi "invasion ports" along the channel coast.

A series of terrific explosions was heard across the 22-mile-wide channel today and a correspondent said the whole coast seemed to shake with the force of the blasts.

A northeast wind chopped the channel waters again after yesterday's calm, making it unfavorable for any attempt to transport troops in the flat-bottomed barges of Hitler's massive invasion fleet.

Kidnaper to Get California Trial; Papers Are Praised

San Francisco, Sept. 25 (AP)—Federal officers announced intentions today of giving Wilhelm Jakob Muhlbroich to state authorities for prosecution as the kidnaper of baby Marc De Tristan, Jr., and acknowledged that newspaper publicity had wrecked his plans to commit the "perfect kidnapping."

Meanwhile, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which kept the German alien incommunicado, continued its check to see if he might have been the man who kidnapped Charles Mattson in Tacoma, Wash., the night of December 27, 1936, and left his mutilated body in a snow patch near Everett, Wash., 15 days later.

Assistant FBI Director Earl L. Connelley refused to disclose definitely whether Muhlbroich had been linked to the Tacoma crime, but the fact that his custody transfer to state authorities impeded was taken to indicate the link had not been established.

William Mattson, brother of the Tacoma victim, was flown here with FBI agents to confront Muhlbroich, but whether he identified the man was undisclosed.

The kidnap-slayer of the little Mattson boy faces a probable death sentence. Muhlbroich, if convicted in the De Tristan case under California law, can be sentenced only to life imprisonment unless it is proved he harmed his 2 1/2-year-old victim.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Cautious Hitch-Hiker

St. Louis—A man who telephoned the weather bureau to inquire about conditions between here and Shenandoah, Ia., asked so many questions that Forecaster Walter Moxom thought he must be an aviator.

"Are you traveling by auto or plane?" Moxom queried.

"Oh, no," was the reply. "I'm just hitch-hiking."

Ambitious

Phoenix, Ariz.—Pat Patrick, softball pitcher, won and lost the same game 2 to 1. He hurled for both teams.

During the season he played on each team in different leagues so when they finally opposed each other he didn't leave the mound. He pitched 16 innings, giving five hits to the winners and seven to the losers.

P.S. He didn't bat against himself.

Embarrassing

Seattle—A lone gunman who trussed two men in a $1,000 day-light holdup picked a tavern where police never would expect a crime. It was across the street from the police station.

Danger of Bathing

Minneapolis—Edward Murphy became a casualty just lying in a bathtub soaping his leg.

He ran the soap down his leg and felt a sharp pain. He had failed to notice a razor blade stuck to the soap. The result was a severe laceration.

He'll Get the Pen

Belleville, Ill.—If caught, the thief who took a set of fountain pens off the judicial bench in circuit court may have to do some fancy explaining to get off with a light sentence.

The pens, an election victory gift, were the pride and joy of Judge Maurice V. Joyce.

GOOD TASTE TODAY

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

USUALLY GROOM'S FAMILY PAY OWN HOTEL BILL IF BRIDE'S FAMILY CAN'T CARE FOR THEM

But in Exceptional Case Cited, Emily Post Says Bride's Mother Can Make Other Arrangements

Usually the groom's family pay their own hotel bill when they can not be invited to stay with the family or friends of the bride. But it would be entirely proper, as well as courteous, for the mother of the bride to write a note saying that she is looking forward with great pleasure to meeting them personally, and telling them she expects them to be her guests at the hotel. This is in answer to a bride-to-be who tells me:

"I have worked these several years in the home town of my fiance. His family have been wonderful to me. Every week-end they have invited me to their house, and they have been nice to me in dozens of other ways.

"My own home, where the wedding is taking place, is quite a distance from here. My family lives in cramped quarters, making it impossible for me to invite the groom's mother and father and sister to our house. I have no relatives either who could be expected to invite them. In view of everything his people have done for me, do you think it would be permissible for my family to take care of their accommodations at the hotel, and if so, would we tell them about it beforehand? May I just tell them, or should mother write the other mother a note? And should their accommodations include a room for the groom too?"

As already said, it would be proper for your parents to ask the groom's parents to be their guests, but the groom (or his family for him) is expected to pay for his own and his ushers' accommodations—that is, if your relatives or intimate friends can not put them up.

How Far Courtesy?

Dear Mrs. Post: If a guest should make a mistake and drink out of her finger bowl (I am really just using this as an example), shouldn't the hostess do the same thing to avoid making the guest feel terrible?

Answer: It is hard to believe that this could happen outside of a slapstick comedy script. But if it should happen, the only thing the hostess could do would be to avoid using her own finger bowl, and hope that others at table will happen not to use their finger bowls, either.

The Morning Wedding Collation

Dear Mrs. Post: If the wedding collation after a ceremony is very simple—amounting to little more than refreshments—is it still called a breakfast?

Answer: Yes! The name explains itself as the breaking of the night's fast. Nothing is indicated to show what its menu should be. You can, if you want to, call it your wedding collation, if you like it better, and particularly if you are going to serve punch and sandwiches instead of coffee and rolls as for early breakfast.

(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Enchanting Glass Garden Brightens a Dull Corner

You Can Quickly Make One

How obliging glass gardens are! Any place in your home one type or another will flourish, asking little care and almost no water.

Perfect for desk or bookshelf is the terrarium we've pictured. Its jolly red-berried wintergreen and creeping cranberry thrives without direct sunlight and so do the little evergreens.

Hemlocks, pines and junipers are easy to grow, making miniature Christmas trees. And you may add a sprig of polypody, for this little evergreen fern also loves shade.

In making your garden, use an old fishbowl or any clear glass container. Put in an inch or two of pebbles or other drainage material and add soil, which should be well moistened before planting. If using moss, dig little holes in it for your plants. And fun to make a pebble path to wind about your "shrubbery."

For sunnier spots you may like a terrarium gay with rosy begonias or African violets. Or where there's lots of sun—try gardenias. Yes, you can grow your own corsages!

Our 32-page booklet gives directions for terrariums and dish gardens of all kinds. Tells how

Play Dress Rehearsal—"Over the Hills" will be given a full-dress rehearsal this evening at St. Peter's school hall when Director Bill Houghtaling will put the finishing touches on the drama which will be presented Thursday and Friday evenings at 8:15 p. m.

This is the second stage play to be given by St. Peter's Dramatic Club. The first, "Lena Rivers," presented last spring by its success encouraged the club to such an extent that the members decided to produce two plays a year.

This modernized version of "Over the Hills" will have the characters in modern dress but will retain all of the former heartaches and moments of comedy. The old stage hit by Henriette Brown, based on love and mortgages, has been revived often on the screen and in the legitimate theatre and has proved a success with each renewal. Not so many months ago the movie version appeared at one of the local theatres and the attendance proved that the old plot has lost none of its appeal.

Refreshments will be served after the entertainment both evenings and on Friday night Daisy and her orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Tickets may be secured from any member of the cast or at St. Peter's rectory.

Suppers-Food Sales—The Ladies' Aid of Trinity Lutheran Church, corner of Spring and Hone streets, will hold a clam chowder sale Friday, September 27, from 11 a. m. until 3 p. m. Orders may be telephoned to Mrs. Snyder, 2736-R, or Mrs. L. Schwenk, 4088.

The Woman's Auxiliary of St. John's Episcopal Church will conduct a food sale at Montgomery Ward's store Saturday, September 28, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Mountain Takes Stance
Statesville, N. C. (AP)—Did you ever see a mountain walking? Well, maybe not, but Southern Railway officials say they have plenty of evidence that one does.

After two successive cloud-bursts and floods, railway maintenance men found tracks near Mount Lookout seven feet out of line.

Electric and telegraph poles were a long stretch of right of way had moved. Officials could find no evidence of any slides. High up on the mountain they had found a seven-foot crack, more than 12 acres—had slipped even feet.

They Broke Even
Lands, N. C. (AP)—When a child broke and hurled A. B. Weaver, a contractor, and two of his men to the ground the right of each of the three was broken just above the ankle. The break was in exactly the same place on the leg of each man.

Lights of New York

By L. L. STEVENSON

Alarm: Passengers on an uptown subway express, one of this department's scouts reports, were made somewhat nervous by a ticking sound that came from a package carried by a shabby man seated in the center of the car. Because of recent happenings, thoughts naturally turned to bombs and there was a discussion on the part of two strangers as to what action should be taken. One thought the proper thing to do would be to notify the motorman so that he could give the whistle at the next station. But the shabby man, evidently overhearing what was being said, took a hand. While other passengers gave him plenty of room, he unwrapped his parcel and exposed a big alarm clock. He had borrowed it from a friend, he explained, because he was going on a new job in the morning and didn't want to risk being late. And tension came to an end.

Street Scene: Four ragged youngsters eyeing a truckload of watermelons. . . . The driver and his helper, evidently suspicious, eyeing the small boys. . . . A tired-looking woman, seated on a stoop sewing on a baby's garment. . . . and stopping now and then to shout a warning to an all but naked lad that he must not go out into the street. . . . An ice-cream peddler, his white apron flapping about his legs and his white cap at a rakish angle, chatting with a girl busy scrubbing a hallway. . . . A housewife, back from marketing and well laden with bundles, fumbling in her purse for her door key. . . . Finding it, she holds it between her lips, as if it were a cigarette, as she marches into the house. . . . A street cleaner humming bits of grand opera as he goes about his work.

Variety: Shortly after their arrival for a brief vacation, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schader, once New Yorkers but now Detroit residents, called on a sick friend who manufactures movielets. Mrs. Schader, as so many other women are doing, was wearing one of those small, jeweled American flags. When his eyes rested on that emblem, the sick man grinned. The flag, he said, reminded him of a dealer from the Middle West who, foreseeing a great demand, had come in to place a large order for miniature flags. But, he insisted, they had to come in assorted colors!

Great Ships: Idly rising and falling with the tide, the Queen Elizabeth, pride of the British merchant marine and the world's largest ship, continues to lie at her mid-town pier. As perhaps you remember, the 85,000-ton, 14-deck liner slipped into the harbor in March and quickly tied up at the foot of Fifth street, with the Normandie, France's largest ship, as her next pier neighbor. At that time, the world's second largest ship, the Queen Mary, was also here. But one day the Queen Mary's lines were cast off and she disappeared down the bay. Since then there have been many rumors that the Queen Elizabeth would join her sister ship in transporting troops. Recently, the Queen Elizabeth's tanks were filled with oil and it was expected that she would sail on the next tide. But she didn't and report now has it that she will be here until the end of the war.

Where to Go: Speaking of ships, there was the business man who, after 50 years of valuable service, was retired on a comfortable pension. Also he had saved his money and made wise investments so he

Woman Is Held For Trying to Get Cash From Heiress

MRS. LILLIAN BEGGS

New York, Sept. 25 (AP)—A middle-aged, Canadian-born woman awaited grand jury action today on federal charges accusing her of attempting to extort $50,000 from Helen Clay Frick, steel heiress, by threatening to bomb her.

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, said the woman, Mrs. Lillian Beggs, of Lyndhurst, N. J., confessed yesterday she wrote three extortion letters to Miss Frick within the last six weeks.

Hoover said the woman wanted the money to buy a house and a boat. She formed the plan, he said, after reading of the huge income tax paid by Miss Frick, whose father was Henry Clay Frick, wealthy steel master and art patron.

The woman was arrested by FBI agents after accepting a decoy package at the Fulton street entrance to the Hudson terminal in accordance with instructions contained in the letters.

Mrs. Beggs, an alien despite 30 years in this country, said her maiden name was Lillian Wittis and she was born in Ontario.

She had no fear of the future. Nevertheless, he wasn't at all happy so, seeking to cheer him up, a friend reminded him that at last he had leisure to do what he had always wanted to do—travel.

"Travel!" repeated the veteran. "That would have been all right five years ago. But now where can I go?"

Different: While Jack Price was riding in a bus over on the Jersey side of the Hudson, he noticed a sign which stated that the name of the "salesman" of that bus was Mr. So-and-so. It also requested passengers to refrain from conversing with the "salesman" while the bus was in motion. Being curious about the matter, he made inquiries and found that these days, in New Jersey, bus drivers are not bus drivers but salesmen. Nevertheless, they continue to sit behind the steering wheel and collect fares just as bus drivers used to do.

Hair Sorters Have 'Micrometer Touch'
Difference in Thickness Is Easily Detected.

HOUSTON, TEXAS.—A hair's breadth means exactly that to a group of Houston men who sort mohair before it is shipped to mills. The men feel locks of goat's hair and ascertain, solely with their delicate sense of touch, whether the individual hair is, for instance, .0030 or .0067 of an inch in diameter.

They also are able to distinguish as many as 13 other diameters between those two. Their keen sense is known as a "micrometer touch," because their decisions are calibrated regularly with mechanical micrometers by the bureau of standards and must be correct.

The men sit at long tables divided into stalls. Each daily sorts between 400 and 500 pounds of Angora goat or mohair, a lock at a time, into various matchings.

Diameter, length and color must be considered for weaving fine mohair velvets and other fabrics, and consequently, the sorter must have added to his sense of touch a microscopic quality of sight.

Many of the shades of raw hair are not apparent to the untrained layman. If a sorter makes an error, a costly piece of fabric may be ruined later in the weaving.

The apprenticeship is three years long and only one man in 10,000 is capable of qualifying.

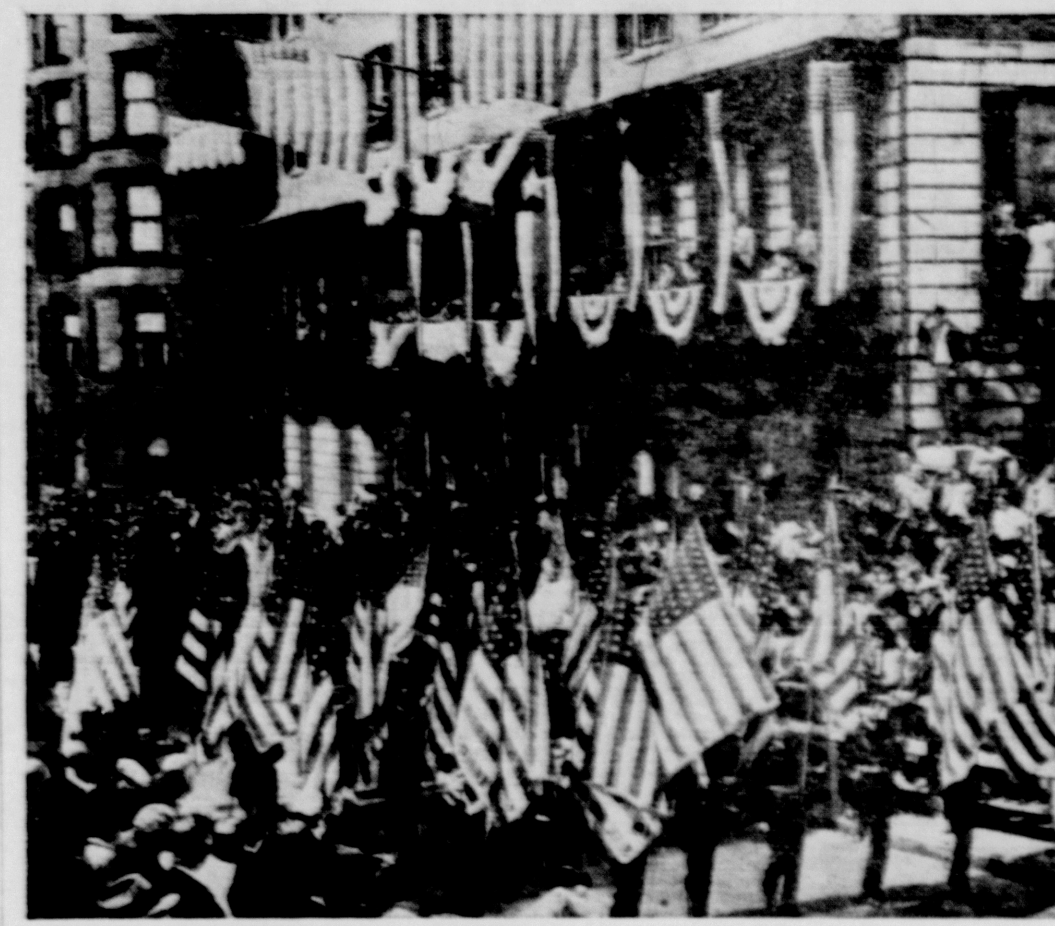

The western New York peach region is the last one to supply fresh peaches to New York state housewives. The peach harvest will be completed in the state by the end of September.

LEGION PARADES THROUGH DOWNTOWN BOSTON

Treading the historic ground of Boston's Beacon street, these units of the Michigan delegation to the twenty-second annual convention of the American Legion carry massed colors past sidewalks crowded with spectators. Note patriotic citizen at right saluting.

The Space Worth It
Richmond, Va. (AP)—"Tails I win, heads you lose" was true enough in the case of a citizen who dropped a two "tails" nickel in a downtown parking meter. Such headless coins are convenient when it comes to betting for drinks and cigars—if the holder isn't too scrupulous. Police were surprised that their parking patron gave one up for just five cents' worth of time.

Coach Has Scheme To Beat Grid Rule On Games Played

'Sig' Makofski, Mentor, Hopes to Have His Club Play Eight; One Twin Bill

Schenectady, Sept. 25.—Leave it to Coach "Sig" Makofski, dynamic grid mentor at Mont Pleasant High School to find a way to get around the State Education Department decree which restricts high school football squad members to participation in seven games.

"Sig" has charted eight contests for the 1940 season, but has done it in the novel manner of scheduling a double-header event. The Cherry and White squad will meet two teams on October 5, and both the games will be "grid" contests.

Announcement of the Mt. Pleasant grid schedule made this week reveals that Oneonta High School will be encountered at Oneonta and Kingston High School at Kingston, both on the October 5 date.

But "Sig" plans to use only his first-string team against Kingston and his "B" squad in Oneonta. This arrangement is believed to be the first time in the history of the city that a high school squad has met two eleven on the same day.

The question in "Sig's" mind is, "Will it stand the test of the venerable Dr. Jones, State Education Department official and nemesis of all high school coaches?" "Sig" believes it will, since each of the players will participate in not more than the legal limit of games—seven.

The Yankees whipped the Washington Senators twice yesterday, 6-5 and 9-4, while the Indians dropped a 7-2 decision to the St. Louis Browns and Detroit was kept idle because of rain.

The Tigers must play a double-header with the Chicago White Sox today while their rivals play single games, making all sorts of situations possible. Chicago has downed Detroit in 13 out of 20 games previously this year.

The Yankees' chances for another championship still are remote, because they would have to win all their remaining games and Detroit would have to lose two in order to get as much as a tie. Yet the Yanks make their true believers feel they have a chance because they just won't quit fighting.

Dutch Leonard and the Senators had them staggering in the first game yesterday, two runs behind in the ninth inning, but they tied the score with two singles, a double and a walk, and in the tenth inning they punched over the deciding run on a walk, Joe Gordon's double and Red Rolfe's single.

They scored five runs in the third inning of the nightcap, three of them on a homer by Babe Dahlgren, and won with ease. Cleveland was curbed by the sixth hurling of Elden Auker and would have been shut out except for a couple of errors by Shortstop Johnny Berardino of the Browns.

St. Louis raked three hurriers for 14 hits. The day's big hitting show, however, was at Philadelphia in the first game of a doubleheader in which the Boston Red Sox beat the A's 16-8. Boston made 23 hits, including six home runs, and the A's 15. Ted Williams and Manager Joe Cronin each hit two homers and Jimmie Foxe one, the 500th of his major league career.

In the second game Boston's Jack Wilson bested Bill Beckman 4-3 in a hurling duel with six-hit ball and the help of a three-run rally in the eighth.

The only game in the National League that escaped the rain was at Brooklyn, where the Dodgers nosed out the New York Giants 4-3 to clinch second place in the National League. Brooklyn lumped five runs into the eighth inning and withstood a four-run rebuttal in the eighth.

Del Monte, Calif., Sept. 25 (P).—Thirty-two surviving contenders for the national women's amateur golf championship headed into a hectic day today.

One round was on the morning schedule, and another, the third of match play, was set for the afternoon, which will leave eight in the title chase when dusk settles over the Pebble Beach course.

Two or three upsets of the mild variety were recorded yesterday, but all of the top-flight candidates for the United States crown stayed in the running.

Included here are matches which look like the most bitter of the second round.

Helen Sigel, Philadelphia, vs. Beatrice Barret, Minnetonka, Minn.; Peggy Graham, Beverly Hills, Calif., vs. Jane Cothran, Greenville, S. C.; Dorothy Kirby, Atlanta, Ga., vs. Barbara Ransom, Stockton, Calif.; Marjorie Ferrie, Pasadena, Calif., vs. Jean Bauer, East Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Gregg Liffur, Los Angeles, vs. Marion Milley, Lexington, Ky.

vinisky, had left school to go to work. And finally the faculty has had no decision yet as to whether freshmen, who were eligible last year, will be allowed to play this season. "All I hope," said Bee, "is that none of the regulars get hurt. We would be in a real jam then."

New York, Sept. 25 (P).—Out of the question box: Is it news that Gene Tunney offered $15,000 for a piece of Pat Comiskey's couple of months back? ... And Bill Daley wouldn't sell. ... Are you surprised to hear your Yankees, who were laid to rest with full ceremonies only two days ago, are now only 4 to 1 to cop from both the Tigers and the Cry Babies? ... What's this about old Harry Stuhldreher having his troubles already at Wisconsin, early as it is? ... What with Don Kolbusz dropping football for the year and Hal Rooney still nursing that bad knee.

Kingston Will Be Favorites to Cop 1940 Grid Start

Local Team Has Been Shaping Up Well; Line and Backfield Are Very Strong

The first of a tough seven-game football schedule comes off for the Kingston High School team Saturday afternoon at Amsterdam when the Maroon and White club takes on the Carpet City representatives. Kingston is placed as slight favorites to win.

For the last few weeks the local warriors of the gridiron have been practicing daily at the municipal stadium in preparation for the forthcoming schedule which promises plenty of action.

Although nothing in the definite way is known about the Amsterdam club, it can be said safely that the up-state aggregation always puts out a fairly good club. Last season the Maroon team, then under the direction of G. Warren Kias, defeated Amsterdam by 20 to 19.

On paper Kingston's chances of making it two in a row should be even greater than the close decision of the 1939 campaign. A host of veteran linemen and secondary athletes have reported to Coach Tommy Weems which will put Kingston into a grand chance of wading through a pretty good schedule.

Line Stands Out
One of the most important phases on any grid machine, the line, is one of Kingston's valuable assets. A number of players who will start for the Maroon-clad athletes this season will be men who saw service last year during the games. Particularly the center of the line is strong.

Starting at the center slot the Maroon will have Bob Messinger, a brawny youth who looks very good this year but may get a lot of competition from Bob Brown. Both Brown and Messinger have been going the limit in the daily drills and if they keep it up Coach Weems will have his worries as to which man to start Saturday's opener.

Flanking the center will be Fred Hofbauer and Nick Lemister, both good men to have around. Weems has Cotter and Winne, two more prospects in case either of these two aforementioned men bog down. But Hofbauer and Lemister have been showing up well to date.

Have been showing up well to date. Bud Ellsworth and Johnny Brinier seem to have the inside slot for the guard positions. But again they may have to give a good battle before they can clinch any thing.

Tucker on End
Weems isn't worrying too much about one of his end posts where Frank Tucker is holding his own. But the other seems vacated. Stahl, Crosswell and Healy are working for the other end position with Stahl getting just a little edge on the decision so far.

In the secondary the Maroon and White club has a very impressive list of ball-carriers. Led by Jack Fallon and Joe Benjamin, Kingston can call upon Ed Esposito, Jack Short, Bill Ball, Johnny Rowland and Mark Katchigan, all promising in their own trade.

Kingston still has a few more days of drilling before the opening tussle is staged. In these final days Coach Weems and his able assistants will endeavor to iron out any rough spots in the team which have been picked up since training started. By no means is the Maroon team a finished product. The coaches still have a big job on their menu if the Maroon eleven expects to wade through a successful season from the first to the final game.

Former Guardsmen Say Goodbyes, Leave for Fort Dix

Kingston's two units of the 156th Field Artillery, Battery A and Headquarters Battery, left the New York State Armory on Manor avenue this morning shortly after 8 o'clock en route to Fort Dix, where they will take part in a year of training. A proportionately small group of friends and relatives were on hand to see the boys off. In the upper left a few of the former guardsmen line up at the mess hall for breakfast, the last meal to be eaten at the local armory for a year. Below this a group try to load the remainder of their packs on an already overburdened truck. Gunners and drivers make a final check on the truck and gun to make sure that all are fast for the approximately 180 mile trip. In the upper right is Bill Brown of Kingston who was the last to join the guard before its departure. Bill signed up yesterday and is all ready to go except for a uniform. Scenes such as the one in the lower right were frequent as the last command to "start moving" was given.

to sleep in tents, but as the majority of the boys are used to roughing it that fact held no terrors for them. Since they were mobilized into the federal service they have been excellently and plentifully fed at the local armory, and it is expected that the messes in camp will be equally as good.

While away from Kingston the boys will naturally be glad to receive mail from their friends at home.

Mail should be addressed to either Battery A or Headquarters Battery, 156th Field Artillery, 44th Division, First Battalion, Fort Dix, Wrightstown, N. J., in order to reach them.

First Draft Ranks May Hold Sizeable Volunteer Corps

quarters here. In New York, for example, special military police had to be called out yesterday to handle a crowd of 700 young men seeking to enlist.

A typical inquiry came from a young Idaho lawyer who wanted to put his military service behind him in order that he might take up legal practice later without fear of being interrupted. He was advised that he, or any other man from 18 to 36, could volunteer to his local draft board and be accepted for service unless deferred.

The more enlistments in a given draft district, the smaller the number that will be taken from it by compulsory conscription.

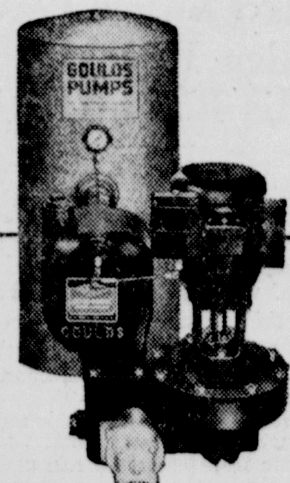

Speaking of volunteers of a non-military kind, Maj. Chauncey Parker, finance officer of the army and navy selective service committee, said indications were that voluntary workers to operate the draft machinery also would be plentiful.

Although $24,800,000 has been requested from Congress for selective service expenses during the current fiscal year ending July 1, 1941, he said, only the clerks of some 6,500 local and a smaller number of appeal boards would be paid, and their salaries probably would be "very small."
